

Group Sailing Events at MIT

PROGRAM OVERVIEW

The MIT Sailing Pavilion is offering Group Sailing Events run by our Co-Head Coach and staff to provide an excellent opportunity for teams to step out of their work environment and onto the Charles River to learn to sail against the Boston city skyline in our Lynx Catboats.

Participants will learn to sail, engage in group sailing activities, and will enjoy access to the Wood Sailing Pavilion's roof deck with striking views of Boston's Back Bay and Downtown city skyline. The adventure of sailing in this fast-learning program will give participants confidence in a short session. The shared experience of tackling new skills and mastering the art of sailing can foster genuine connections and appreciation between colleagues. This camaraderie often translates back to the office. MIT is now offering corporate and group sailing events during summer months and can work with companies and teams to schedule specific dates.
